Adat Noar offers your teen:

a community of over 150 Jewish 9th graders from Orange County and Long Beach

critical thinking skills that apply to school, sports, youth groups, extra-curricular activities, and work

an imaginative curriculum encompassing new perspectives on the role of teens in modern Jewish life

unique classroom learning combined with excellent hands-on experiences

Why Adat Noar?

.....To meet and make friends among Jewish 9th graders from participating synagogues in Orange County and Long Beach.

.....To share intensive Jewish learning experiences during the weekend retreats and preceding Sunday sessions. Together, these form five mini-courses designed to explore concerns and issues that confront young people in today's complex world.

.....To rediscover the joys and traditions of Judaism at enriching Shabbat programs and services after the Bar/Bat Mitzvah years and at the start of the high school years.

.....To strengthen each student's Jewish identity and provide opportunities to share experiences and socialize with other Jewish young people in a comfortable, informal setting.

Who are the staff?

For the past 28 years, The Bureau of Jewish Education of Orange County has been conducting the Adat Noar program. The Bureau employs some of the finest teachers and counselors in southern California. Most of our staff attended Adat Noar as teenagers, giving them special insight into working with the students and a unique commitment to the program. Sunday sessions hold a 1:20 teacher to student ratio and camp weekends hold a 1:4 counselor to camper ratio.

Where is the camp? How do we get there?

All of our Shabbaton weekends are held at Brandeis-Bardin Institute in Simi Valley. The campground is on 3,000 acres of land. The facility is Glatt Kosher and is gate and guard secured 24-hours a day.

On the Friday of camp, students may take our chartered coach bus from Irvine, Santa Ana or Long Beach. If students are unable to ride the bus from one of our three bus stops, s/he may be driven to camp by a parent or guardian with pre-approval from our Youth Staff.

Give your teen a unique and relevant Jewish educational experience. Give your teen a Jewish Community.

Deepening personal values...

Over 700 students come through the Bureau programs each year. Every student, staff member and board member learns about five core values: Kavod - Respect, Hesed - Kindness, Talmud Torah - Jewish Learning, Haknessat Orkhim - Welcoming the Guest, K'lal Yisrael - Community. Every lesson taught encompasses these values and therefore provides a strong foundation to Adat Noar.

A true community effort...

When students from 18 area synagogues come together under one program, a unique and dynamic pluralistic community is created. Students must belong to a congregation to participate in Adat Noar. Those whose memberships are with a non-sponsoring congregation are required to pay an additional program fee. The Adat Noar program is co-sponsored by the Jewish Federation of Orange County and the Jewish Federation of Long Beach & West Orange County. The program is supported by the Tarbut v'Torah Day School and is co-sponsored by the following congregations:

- Congregation B'nai Israel
- Congregation B'nai Tzedek
- Congregation Eilat
- Congregation Shir ha-Ma'a lot
- Temple Bat Yahm
- Temple Beth El
- Temple Beth Emet
- Temple Beth David
- Temple Beth Sholom
- Temple Beth Tikvah
- Temple Beth Ohr
- Temple Israel-Long Beach
- UCTS-Long Beach (Beth Zion Sinai & Temple Beth Shalom)
- University Synagogue

Developing personal relationships ...

Our Adat Noar program is dedicated to deepening your teen's Jewish identity and his or her connection to the Jewish community. Participants learn side-by-side in the classroom and work together as a team at camp. Living together as a Jewish community in our camp environment strengthens their relationships to each other and to Judaism.

Quality Jewish education...

Adat Noar participants explore the wisdom of our heritage in a unique way. The program year is divided into five mini-courses, each consisting of two Sunday workshop sessions in Orange County and one weekend retreat in Simi Valley. The topics, chosen by the students themselves, are relevant and exciting. In addition to student learning, parents are encouraged to attend the five parent education sessions offered through the year.

What our students say...

"I am a new ME coming out of Adat Noar - understanding and having a greater appreciation for everything in my life and the people around me."

Leah Dockstader, Dana Hills High School & University Synagogue.

"Thank you so much for one of the greatest experiences of my life. I have never met such awesome friends and I never believed it when people told me I would have friends for life, but they were right, I have - thank you!"

Jason Katz, Woodbridge High School & Temple Bat Yahm.

"[Adat Noar] changed me as a person and as a Jew."

Shari Einstein, Los Alamitos High School & Congregation B'nai Tzedek.
